

We can never forget the Canadian stampede.

The tickets were an allegorical example of a stampede with them selling out within days,
and this happened regularly
to the ever-successful Canadian export.

Speaking of export, head to Sohar gardens